INVESTIGATING EX-SUPT. ROGERS. The Furniture and the Pay Patients he Took

Supervisors Joseph McLaughlin of Long Island City, Thomas F. McGowan of Newtown, and Martin V. Wood of Hempstead, appointed by the Queens county Board of Supervisors to investigate the condition of the Asylum for the Incane near Mincola, met yesterday in the asylum in the parlor of Superintendent Charles G. Clement. Mr. David Rogers was the Superintendent from the establishment of the asylum in 1876 until he was superseded by Dr. Clement on Nov. I. For years he had trouble with the county Board of Superintendents over the purchase of supplies for pay patients. When he went away he took with him all the furniture, carpets, and dishes except those used by the patients, and also several of the pay patients. He applied some time ago to the Board of Supervisors to have the asylum building enlarged because it was overcrowded, basing his application on his statement that he had 131 patients to care for, which was more had 131 patients to care for, which was more than the State Board of Charities allowed for the room at his disposal. Superintendent Clement found only 119 patients, and there were twenty empty bods.

Among those present yesterday were Mr. Rogers's son, Clinton H. Rogers, who is a greeer in East Williston, and Mr. Rogers's sonin-law, Henry Sanford, formerly assistant keeper in the asylum and now conducting Mr. Rogers's private asylum in East Williston. Mr. Rogers went to Europe for his health recently.

Mr. Rogers went to Europe for his health recentiy.

The committee held a secret session while they examined the register and the record of cases treated. It was found that on Nov. 1 there were 77 men and 50 women revorted as inmates, 117 in all. Yesterday there were 120 in the institution, 58 men and 62 women. Mr.
Rogers reported 131 on Oct. 1. His son-in-law was the first witness. He said that the 117 should read 119, because on the day before Mr.
Rogers went away a man and a woman were admitted who were not booked. That left 12 to be accounted for. Five of these were pay patients, the witness said, who went away with Mr. Rogers, and six were away on furlough; so that the report of 131 patients was correct.

I. McGowan—No one had any business to pay it.

Ir. Pearsail—I don't know about that.

Ir. McGowan—Not when there was any doubt about justice of the bill.

Ir. Pearsail—Well, the furniture was not for his use be, but for any one who came?

Timon II. Rogers—It was agreed that father should paid for those things. Supervisors Sullivan and Lower here the day we moved, and I said to them, I not want to take anything that didn't belong to father's didn't want to take anything that didn't belong to father's didn't said they would leave everything to father's land. Mr. McGowan-How about taking away the pay pa Rogers—We had a right to take them, and as to the y taken for them, father has receipts to show.

MRS. GRAY'S PET TERRIER.

It Mecognizes her in the Shop of a Dog Fancier who will Not Give It Up.

Dr. John F. S. Gray and his wife of 68 Madi-n avenue procured a summons at Jefferson Market sterday for Dog Fancier II. Kistemann. Mrs. Gray told Justice Duffy that she lost on June 17 a valuable pe torrier named Fanny, a cross between a Scotch and a Skye. She had bought the dog in Paris, and had never seen one like it anywhere in Europe or America. She offered a reward for Fanny, but received no tidings the offered a reward for Fanny, but received no tidings her whereabouts. She finally concluded to purchase other dog to supply the place of the lost pet. She ni to a dog fancier's in Broadway, who recommended to go to Kistemann. She had been to Kistemann's Ore to have Fanny doctored.

The went home and told her husband what had occred. They went to Mr. Kistemann's place and offered in $50 for the dog. They say that he refused it sell for y price; that they offered $100, and that he said finally it he would not sell the dog at any price. The summs is returnable to-day.

Policeman Thomas McCormack told to Justice Duffy yesterday morning a remarkable story of his provess. He had two prisoners, William Hunter and Ed-ward Grovestein, whom he arrested at Eleventh avenue ward Grovestein, whom he arrested at Eleventh avenue and Thirty-fifth street on Sunday night. He said they stole a buggy from George King, and, after a pleasant drive, returned it. Mr. King ventured to grumble, whereupon the young men knocked him down and jumped on him. Policeman McCormack interfered with their sinusement, and Hunter caught him by the throat, while Grovestein attacked him. Hunter broke his club. About 40 roughs then surrounded and assaulted him, the fought his way through the crowd with his prisoners. Justice Duffy sentenced each of the prisoners to six menths on the Island.
